Milleteknik, the leader of the Nordic security market, chose to cooperate with MEAN WELL at Milleteknik's inception in 1993. CEO Magnus Lund observed that from his first visit to the present, the contact window of MEAN WELL has never changed in the past 27 years! The stability cooperation and trust relationship between them also has made MEAN WELL become an inseparable business partner of Milleteknik.

Milleteknik's major sales market is in Northern Europe, and in recent years it has gradually marketed its products worldwide. For all public spaces, commercial offices and home communities, Milleteknik provides backup and security systems needed in every aspect of life, such as fire alarms, access control systems, and evacuation alarms.

With great product quality and service, Milleteknik not only looks forward to facing more creative challenges, but also hopes to develop more advanced technologies to contribute to the global security market.
